GOTHAM'S BIG STRIKE.

All But Two of New York's Street Car Lines Tied Up.

Several Companies Make Unsuccessful Attempts to Run Cars.

The Strikers Attack the Drivers and Overturn the Cars.

An Extra Force of Police Prevent Any Serious Disturbance.

New York's Great Strike

New York, January 29.—The long threatened surface road strike was inaugurated here this morning. The only cars running are those of the Third avenue and Bleecker street roads. The president of the Sixth avenue road said he would run a car this morning over the line of his route even if all the strikers combined to stop it. The strikers are preparing to do this and they predict that the car will not run below Eighth street. The police reserves are all on duty in anticipation of trouble. In all about $ [illegible] except [illegible] A lively row occurred at Grand street this morning when a crowd of strikers tried to overturn a car. A large mob blocked the street when the car started and all sorts of obstructions were placed on the track. The crowd surrounded the car and unhitched the horses, but by this time the police had collected in force and had a hand to hand fight with the mob. Despite the police, however, the mob lifted the car bodily and slung it across the track. The police kept charging up all the time and attacked the struggling strikers. A moment or two of this and the crowd became disordered and began to scatter. The police had gained the day. One of the ring leaders was captured.

New York, January 29, 9 a. m.—With two exceptions every line of street cars in this city is tied up. When the last night trip was made each car was run into the stables and at 5 a. m. the great strike [illegible] up to this hour no disorder has been reported. Superintendent Murray and Inspectors Steers, Williams and Copelaw have been at police headquarters since day break consulting with the officers of the surface roads. Two police patrol wagons are there in readiness for any emergency and a large number of reserves are quartered in the building.

New York, January 29, 11:30 a. m.—Up to this time six cars have been sent out and all made the trip. A number of minor skirmishes between the police and strikers took place.

New York, January 29.—About three o'clock one hundred policemen were dispatched from police headquarters to Thirty third street and Third avenue where a riot was reported to be in progress.

New York, 1 p. m., January 30.—As the afternoon waned, the tied up lines which had run out cars during the day, hoaxed their rolling stock and their new men, and comparative quiet followed the activity of the day time. About 6 o'clock, when the last Sixth avenue car reached the depot the police were relieved. The strikers, however, remained in the neighborhood of the stables. There was great excitement at Twenty-third street and Tenth avenue all day; the strikers at one time stopping and overturning a car before the police could gather in force. The greatest excitement existed about the Fourth avenue stables, where six hundred strikers were gathered. Two or three efforts were made to run cars and a small police force was on hand. A car was finally started but ran into a pile of ashes dumped by the strikers. The latter quickly made a demonstration but were routed by the police and their ringleader arrested. The crowd got even by smashing the car windows with stones and injured slightly a lady passenger. At Sixty-third street a Twenty-third street car was also run in the middle of the Fourth avenue tracks, the conductor put off, the passengers driven out and the car overturned. Quite a serious time ensued immediately but the police made a vigorous fight with their clubs and scattered the crowd. Other cars were also stopped at this point. Sightseers lined the avenue and greatly interfered with the police. Many of the strikers were intoxicated. Late in the afternoon the companies on the east side determined to run no more cars and the crowds began dispersing. The Forty-second street cross town line made four unsuccessful attempts to run a car. One car manned by twenty policemen encountered serious opposition at Seventh avenue, where the strikers had barricaded the tracks. The policemen removed the obstructions and the strikers began to throw stones. Two officers were badly cut about the face before the crowd scattered.

Every patrolman in the city not on duty to-night was kept at the station house, and a full force will be out to-morrow. Master Workman McGee of the strikers order, called on Mayor Grant to-day and complained that the police were making themselves too officious. The mayor informed him he had no doubt that the police officials would act correctly. Despite the quiet of to-night an alarming feature of the situation is the apparent tendency of the strikers to intoxication. Many of them to-night are under the influence of liquor, and it is feared serious consequences will result to-morrow.

This evening Bergh's secretary hired fifty Italians to feed and water the horses of the belt line. On the way to the stable under police escort one of them slipped and fell on the sidewalk and despite the presence of the police was set upon and brutally beaten by a number of the strikers who were looking on.

Contract Is Broken.

Boston, January 29.—A special cable says received to-day by the Chadwick lead works of this city states that the great European copper syndicate has refused to buy any more copper and that the market is quite demoralized. This is interpreted as practically the breaking up of the syndicate.

Justice Shideler fined a vagrant yesterday $10 and costs

Mrs Isaac White leaves for her home in Albany, N Y, to night over the Midland

A patent device for transplanting trees was exciting considerable comment near the Red Elk hotel yesterday.

Ex-Manager Horton, of the Western Union Telegraph company, formerly of this city, is in Helena, Mont

Cascade School District No. 46, has been organized with I Taggart, president, Mrs. C. M. Hinkle, secretary; and D. Sciver, treasurer.

Mr. F. E Oder is now located in his gallery at No 122 S. Tejon street. He has one of the neatest photograph establishments in the city and is prepared to do good work.

Frederick H. Gay, the boot and shoe dealer, yesterday made an assignment to N. M. Campbell. The indebtedness is about $15,000, and it is thought the stock will invoice nearly that amount

W. W. Wood, city ticket agent of the Rock Island, was on duty again yesterday after a week's struggle with the mumps. Agent Bowman, of the Midland is still confined to his room with a severe cold.

A tent in the rear of Mr. Ben Richard's boarding house on South Cascade avenue took fire on Sunday night and was destroyed. A man sleeping in it had to make hurried exit, but the fire alarm was not turned in.

Trains on the Rock Island were all abandoned between Thursday night and Sunday on account of being snow-bound The big cut near Tip-Top was completely filled with flying snow and had to be shoveled out. All trains are now running regularly.

The contested will case of Mrs. Harriet A. McNeil came up in the county court yesterday. The will provides that after several bequests have been made that the residue shall go to the First M. E. church of this city, which will amount to about $3000. The children of Mrs. McNeil's husband are contesting the will on the grounds of mental incapacity.

The members of the legislative committee to investigate the state insane asylum at Pueblo and the penitentiary at Cañon City, passed through this city Sunday evening over the Rio Grande road They were delayed two or three hours in this city on account of the engine leaving the track. They were accompanied by a number of Denver newspaper men.

Our readers are advised to secure their tickets at once for the cantata "Jephtha" by the Mozart Choral society, to be presented at the opera house Friday evening. The concerts of this society are always well patronized and deservedly so. They do not advertise with chromos and colored flaming posters, but the work of this society is of the highest order and the city is justly proud of the Mozart choral.

Charles R. Bailey and Frank Pearson left for Seattle, Washington territory, on the 4 o'clock Santa Fe train yesterday afternoon, where they anticipate locating pretty justly. En route they will visit San Francisco, Portland and other points of interest in California and Oregon. Mr. Delos Darfee accompanied them as far as San Francisco, where he will spend about two months, visiting friends and relatives.

The old "Hub" store room at the corner of Tejon and Kiowa streets has been opened by the Misfit Clothing company of New York. They begin business today with a large stock of clothing usually known as "misfits," which consists of suits, overcoats, trousers, etc., which have been made by merchant tailors and left on their hands, and which they sell to the company at greatly reduced rates

The Salvation army continues to draw large audiences in the old stone building on Huerfano street, east of the GAZETTE office. Too large, in fact, for safety, as the building is thought to be dangerous, and the owner has notified the city officials that he will not be responsible for any accidents that may occur there, as he is not to blame for its being used for such large gatherings. The members of the army are increasing and the "orchestra" now consists of three tamborines and two violins.

To day is Chinese New Year, and the Celestials of Manitou as well as those in this city are observing it as usual The day was ushered in by the igniting of fire crackers, and other demonstrations They will celebrate the festival for the next week To Charlie Chun, a very intelligent Chinaman who runs a laundry on Nevada avenue, we are indebted for the information that this is the fifteenth year of the reign of Kuang-Su. Time with the Chinese is dated from the beginning of the reign of each emperor, and the present one has ruled since 1875, having become the emperor at the age of two years The celebration of New Years in China lasts about a month and is really a harvest festival, as at this time of the year the rice crops are all gathered and stored. Charlie says that in this town there is no fun on New Years, but in Denver where there are a great many China boys they have a big time. A visit to some of the Chinese laundries during the week will repay almost anyone, as the Chinamen are usually very generous at this time, and receive all who call in a spirit of friendliness. For their friends and customers they usually have some treat to offer in the way of cigars, fruits or "China wine," which is a very bad liquor made from rice. They decorate their houses very profusely during the festival, and in the front room is placed an altar on which is kept candles, fruits and rice cake, and on which lights and incense are burned.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 29.—The recount of the vote cast for congressman in the Fifth district at the recent election has been in progress here for several weeks, and is almost completed. According to the official returns, Clunie, democrat had a majority over Phelps, republican, of 31. The Fifth district comprises a portion of San Francisco and three outlying counties. The recount is confined to the city precincts, but Clunie has received the right to have the vote in the county precincts recounted if he so desires Sixty seven precincts out of a total of eighty have been recounted so far and Phelps has made a net gain of thirty eight, and needs but fourteen more votes to overcome Clunie's majority.

Mail Railway Service.

New York Evening Post.

A good many of the republicans look with distrust, not to say suspicion, upon the recent movements of the authorities at the postoffice department for the extension of the civil service rules to the railway mail service and now to clerks in the first and second class postoffices Postmaster General Dickinson and Mr Bancroft, the superintendent of the railway mail service, are neither of them advocates of the principles of civil service reform, as those principles are understood and advocated by the real friends of the reform According to the statements of those who are likely to oppose the plan at present, these two officials have had abundant opportunities to apply civil service rules to the railway mail service without waiting until the last month of a four year's term to do his The postoffice officials, in fact, have waited even longer than that, for it appears that the new rules are not to be applied to that service until February 15, which but less than two weeks of the present administration with which

The Lost Coin.

New York Tribune.

The story of the remarkable trip of a diamond ring on an underground railway train in London published in the column of "Gleanings Here and There," lately recalled to an officer of the Providence and Stonington steamboat line an interesting incident in his own experience. "It was in the summer of 1868," he said, "when I was a daily traveller on the Harlem railroad between this city and Chappaqua that I had an experience which is almost incredible. I usually sat in the baggage car as there was no regular "smoker" and on one warm afternoon I was seated in front of the open door of the car, and I tossed upon 50 gold pieces, each one of it as it fell, and discussing with the conductor the peculiar "ring" of the gold coin. After doing this two or three times, instead of catching it I hit the coin as it fell, and sent it flying out of the door. The train was moving so rapidly that I could not see the spot where it probably fell, but a clump of bushes indicated the place in a general way, and I kept my eye upon this. The conductor impulsively pulled the bell cord and stopped the train when I said Confidence is Keepless The train was backed up half a mile or more and stopped as I requested, when the train hands, with myself, jumped off and began the search. It was looking for a needle in a haystack, but in less than a minute I found the shining gold piece, not where I supposed it would roll but two or three hundred feet away. This incident resulted in making several warm friendships, but in these days no conductor would stop a train for such a purpose."

MANAGER OF THE GAZETTE.

On Sunday we published a Washington letter giving a very good idea of our navy. The New York Herald of January 25th had an article from which we literally quote on the German navy, which gives a good idea of what forces we should have to contend with in case of war.

General A. J. Sampson, of this city will be an applicant for a foreign mission under President Harrison. The general has been a resident of Colorado for seventeen years, and he has the endorsement of republicans from all sections of the state. His culture and patriotism would insure the United States an able representative.

The above is from the Denver Times. General Sampson has been for years a very active republican. He is an old soldier, and it is probable that the old soldiers who fought on the right side will have a preference under this administration. We trust he will be successful.

For the past ten years Colonel Ingersoll has gained a great deal of notoriety by his infidel lectures. Had these lectures been the result of serious and earnest seeking for truth, there could have been no criticism whatever of Mr. Ingersoll. But the lectures were evidently written for the purpose of creating a sensation and were full of smart, flippant expressions which would take. His lecture was written to interest his hearers, rather than to guide them in the ways of truth. While Colonel Ingersoll has in his lectures taken pains to make himself positively offensive to Christian people, yet we have not heard of any direct snub he has given him for what world generally believes from a worldly point had breeding. The first snub comes from an unexpected source. The newly established Players club of New York, occupying a building previously occupied by Edwin Booth, blackballed him a few nights ago. The movement was led by Augustine Daly, and the reason given for blackballing him was his infidel views. It will be interesting to hear from some of our clergymen regarding the wickedness of actors.

The [illegible] position, which is so generally displayed, to [illegible] Secretary Bayard for his lack of zeal in the Sun [illegible] is manifestly unfair. There is no doubt that Mr. Bayard has on several occasions since he became the official head of the state department laid himself open to justly severe criticism for his weak and vacillating diplomatic policy. But there is now too much of a disposition to remember his past record and to censure him on every possible occasion simply on general principles. It is only justice to Mr. Bayard to believe, there being no proof the contrary, that he has gone to the limit of his discretion in trying to arrange the trouble in a dignified and honorable manner. The Samoan question is a difficult problem, and its solution is puzzling the wisest statesmen. There is no treaty between America and Germany which affects it, and, without such treaty, it becomes simply a question of national policy. It is time that our government should establish a definite line of policy with regard to the islands of the Pacific ocean. But it does not come within the power of the secretary of state to create that policy. Once defined by the proper authority it then falls to the share of the secretary of state to preserve it.

According to our dispatches of yesterday morning, Representative Harris has introduced a resolution providing for the investigation of the charges against Representative Mitchell. The speaker of the house violated all parliamentary precedent in not allowing the constituents of Mr. Mitchell representation on some of the house committees. The reason for this was obvious. Mr Mitchell was nominated as a Wolcott man, and after he was elected, decided to vote for some one else. The [illegible] usually is that a man has been bought. For this reason, many members of the house refused to serve with him on committees. But still this was not a reason for not appointing him, because he was still in as good standing in the house from an official standpoint as any other member. Representative Harris did the right thing in moving an investigation. It is a matter of surprise that Mr Mitchell should not have done the same thing on the day of the announcement of the committees. He certainly should have demanded at that time a reason for his not being appointed, and should have demanded that charges be preferred against him and an investigation ordered. But he did not do this, and the action of Representative Harris gives the house a chance to give a good reason for its conduct. We are glad that the Colorado legislature has had the courage to take hold of this subject and push it to a conclusion. There have been several incidences in which bribery has been a very open thing. Six years ago, it was said that one candidate for United States senator spent no less than one hundred and fifteen thousand dollars. This statement may be true or not. But it has been very evident to everyone who has watched the legislature closely that men have been improperly influenced. Perhaps the most prominent politician that ever that Colorado ever had was Jerome B. Chaffee, and he had a wide experience with [illegible] conventions and state legislatures. The result of his experience was his definition of an honest [illegible] which was: "A man who will stay bought." The [illegible] was not original with Mr. Chaffee, but it was the first time it was ever heard in Colorado. It would be a fine thing for the state if [illegible] would [illegible] up for [illegible] and [illegible] Mr. Harris [illegible] to [illegible] asked for.

The German Navy.

While the possibility of a war with Germany never [illegible] the Samoan affair is very remote it is nevertheless a possibility and makes the subject of Germany's navy an interesting one. The following article on the subject is from the New York Herald:

* * * * * * *

There would be no probability—almost no possibility—of land operations, but the German war ships would undoubtedly attack some part of our coast. To do this Germany could put in action thirteen armored ships.

* * * * * * *

The Baden, Bayern, Sachsen and Wurtemberg are the most heavily armored of the German fleet and, like the Kaiser Wilhelm, are citadel ships, that is, they have armored midship casemate and a smaller casemate forward carrying the guns, and a belt of armor thence down below the water line to shield the boilers and machinery, which they are totally unprotected. The battery is so arranged as to give them a starboard broadside fire with four guns a stern fire with two and a beam fire with three. The armor extends over only about one-third the whole length of the ship, but a deflective steel deck is supposed to give protection to the remainder of the hull below the water line.

The defects of this class of vessel have long been recognized, and, with one exception, Germany has avoided no battleships since their construction, apparently preferring to await developments.

The Friedrich der Grosse and the Preussen are turret ships, companions to the Grosser Kurfurst, which was sunk in the English channel by a collision with the Konig Wilhelm several years ago. Their armor plates are from seven and one quarter to nine and one half inches thick. The speed attributed to them—fourteen knots—is probably the speed attained on the measured mile when their first trial took place and it is unlikely that they could exceed eleven knots at the present time. Indeed considerable abatement must be made in the speed of all the vessels in the foregoing table. They are all ships of high freeboard, presenting great resistance to a head wind and a large target for hostile gunners. Double bottoms were not used when they were constructed, and the rapidity with which the Grosser Kurfurst went to the bottom would probably be repeated by any one of them should a torpedo or a ram make a considerable puncture beneath her water line.

The Kaiser and the Deutschland were launched on the Thames, England, in 1874. They carry eight heavy guns each, and have ten inches of iron armor, but they would be easily penetrated by guns of equal calibre to those they carry.

Besides the heavy ships in the navy list Germany has the Arminius an ironclad turret ship of 1,560 tons and 7½ inches of armor carrying four 9-cm guns on a steaming trial on the Kiel bay, also eleven other iron vessels of 1,023 tons displacement, nine knots per hour's trial armor, each carrying one 9-inch gun of 22 tons weight. These are probably incapable of crossing the Atlantic, but are intended for defence of the German ports.

Of fast unarmored cruisers Germany has four, the Elizabeth, Adalbert, Charlotte and Lorelei. Of slower unarmored craft she has the Bussock Moltke, Stosch, Stein, Prinz Adalbert, Leipsic, Princess Charlotte, and the Gneisenau, which are frigates and the Albatross, Arcona, Cyclop Marse, Olga, Sophie and Freya which are corvettes. Germany has also a very complete torpedo fleet but as their transportation across the Atlantic would be difficult and as we have few ships across which they could be used they will probably stay at home. It has also a number of cruisers and gunboats of inferior speed which would cut no figure in case of war.

Of course an important feature of the possibilities of war with Germany is the range of the guns aboard the German vessels. They are all breech loading Krupp guns ranging from 5 to 22 inches in diameter of bore and throwing projectiles of from 50 pounds to 2,000 pounds. The 22 inch guns of the heavier German craft have projectiles of 2,000 pounds. These shells have powder charges weighing from 150 pounds for the 5 inch to 22 pounds for the 12 inch. It will be seen from this comparison that there would be a great disproportion in the damage done in New York if a German vessel should be engaged in firing at the city at long range. Several heavy shells would probably be necessary to destroy a single house. Besides the heavy guns the vessels are armed with machine guns and light rapid fire guns of one inch calibre and a half.

People of El Paso County!

The City of Colorado Springs is flooded with alleged Bankrupt Stocks of Clothing and Furnishing Goods.

You who have patronized my place know that I carry nothing but Reliable Goods. But as long as these bankrupt dealers infest this city I am determined to buck against their prices—not against their goods; and as long as they stay here I will sell you good reliable goods for less money than you can buy an inferior article from them.

All I ask is that you come in and see my prices before buying from alleged bankrupt sales, for I intend SLAUGHTERING PRICES. No reasonable offer for goods will be refused while there is a bankrupt stock of clothing in our city.

G. P. BOONE,

Next Door to the Exchange Bank.

Remember, I will refund your money if my prices are not lower and MY GOODS BETTER than any alleged bankrupt stock.
